INDEX

TO THE

FOURTH VOLUME

OF THE

Weekly Entertainer.

A.

ACCIDENT, a whimſical, 135.
Addiſon, character of Mr. by Dr. Blair, 136.
Advertiſements, copies of curious, 41, 161, 379.
Aerial excurſion, account of that of the Duc de Chartres, and the two celebrated Monſ. Roberts's, on the 15th of July, 1784, made from the pariſh of St. Cloud, 131.
Aerial voyages, conciſe and accurate account of all thoſe made ſince Mr. Montgolfier's diſcoveries, 457.
Americans, account of the manner of life of different ranks of, 32.
Amuſement, on, 87.
Anagrams, 45, 69, 261, 309, 332, 381, 429, 483, 477, 524, 549, 572, 596, 620.—Anſwers to, 44, 67, 91, 139, 162, 211, 236, 284, 404, 476, 594, 619.
Anecdote of a ſharper and a cutler, 16. of Governor Wall, 17. of the Duke of Marlborough, 36. of the maſked man who was the executioner of Charles I. 38. of filial affection, 41. of a Frenchman's ingenuity, ibid. of a gentleman at Bengal, 89. of Aurengzebe the Great Mogul, 179. of the Emperor of Germany, 208. of Dr. Henry Goddard, 232. of the late Ayder Ali, 233. of the champion of England, 256. of an honeſt ſtock-broker, 275. of the Duke of Cumberland, 282. of Sir Robert Henley, 305. of corporation loyalty, 329. of an Iriſh ſeaman, ibid. of a duel avoided by a good-natured reply, 330. of the emigration of one Scott from Edinburgh, 352. of a ſagacious pariſh clerk, 354. of the King of Sweden, 365. of an officer who refuſed to fight a duel, 376. of an uncommon manner of ſpending a large fortune, 377. extraordinary one of reſolution in an Indian woman, 377. of Peter the Great, 378. of Mr. Leprimiereſlane, 401. of an Iriſh gentleman, 402. of Monſ. Paſcal, with ſome remarks, 423. of a country gentleman, 424. of Mr. Macklin, ibid. of the late General Otway, 426. of Cartouche, the famous French robber, 426. of a tall ſoldier, 448. of the King of Pruſſia, ibid. of Miſs Ruſſell, grand-daughter of Oliver Cromwell, 451. of the celebrated Abbe Prevoſt, 465. theatrical, atrical, 472. a tea, 472. a window-tax, ibid. of Count de Romanzow, 499. of the Recorder of London, 521. relative to the commutation-tax, 522. of exalted greatness of soul, 569. of an ignorant player, ibid. of Dr. Young, 570. of uncommon simplicity, 609. of Dr. Donne, 616. of Lord Macartney, 617.

Anecdotes, theatrical, 63. of the emperor of Germany, 65. of Monsieur Suffrein, 133. of Alexander Severus, a Roman emperor, 179. of Dr. Wall, of Shoreham, 184. of Mr. John Sheppard, an Englishman, residentin the Alps, 233. of the late Sir Philip Cravenleigh, 303. of the King of Prussia, 364. of eminent persons, 413. of Dean Swift, 498, 544, 553, 602. of the Emperor Nero, 546. of James I. 568.

Angelica, story of, 106.

Antelope packet, account of the loss of that vessel, in August, 1783, 418.

Assembly, rules of one instituted at ——, 536.

Avarice, uncommon instance of, 161.

Ayder Ali Khan, the history of, 175.

B.

Bartlem, story of the unfortunate Mr. 25.

Beauty of motion, on the, by Dr. Beattie, 566.

Bees and wasps, effectual method of curing their stings, 113.

Benevolence, on, 521.

Berne, description of that city, 180.

Bon mots, 281, 594.

Blanchard, Monsieur, account of his aerial voyage, on July 18, 1784, accompanied by Monsieur Boby, 321. of that of October 16, 1784, accompanied by Mr. Sheldon, 393.

Brandon, Richard, the executioner of Charles I. account of, 209.

C.

Canary bird, the, a tale, 59.

Church-yard, meditations in a, 433.

Cincinnati, account of the institution of the, in Philadelphia, 154.

Clerke, Captain, who sailed with Captain Cooke, some account of, 351.

Clock and Clock-house at Stratsburg, account of the, 253, 460.

Constitution, on the excellency of the, 494.

Cooke, Captain, Lord Mulgrave's elegy on him, 169.

Cooke, Captain, his voyage, various extracts from, 221, 249. abstract of, 269, 297, 316, 341, 367, 389, 414, 438, 485, 513, 533, 580, 604.

Crewkerne, concise description of, and part of the adjacent country, 999.

Cyder, and other acid liquors, the danger of keeping them in earthen vessels, 613.

Cymon and Iphigene, or the triumphs and reward of constancy 536.

D.

Dairy women, friendly hints to the English, 402.

Dancing, on, 182, 289.

Debts, on the folly of noblemen and gentlemen paying their, 577.

Deception, an adroit one lately played off in Pennsylvania, 615.

Denmark, account of the prisons and modes of punishment in that kingdom, by Mr. Howard, 81.

Dialogue, a curious, 473.

Diet, interesting observations on, by Dr. Fothergill, 265, 291.

Discontent, on, 84.

Double elopement, the, 281.

Drinking, dialogue between Sebastian and Philander, intended to expose the folly of excessive, 10, 87.

Duellists, a lesson for, 15.

E.

Eastern pomposity, singular instance of, 157.

Eccentric traveller, tour of an, 4.

Elector of Cologne, character of the, 420.

Emperor of Germany, ditto, 422.

Enigmas,

Enigmas, 20, 69, 93, 116, 164, 189, 237, 260, 284, 308, 331, 332, 356, 357, 381, 501, 521, 525, 548, 572, 595, 596, 621.—Answers to, 19, 43, 68, 90, 91, 114, 115, 138, 163, 186, 187, 188, 259, 260, 307, 403, 404, 428, 429, 451, 452, 476, 523, 547, 620.

E. O. description of that game, with a caution to prevent unexperienced persons from becoming adventurers, 449.

Epitaph, a Latin one on the Rev. T. Coney, 435.

Epitaphs, on Miss Shipley's squirrel, killed by her dog, written by Dr. Franklin, 543. inscription on the sarcophagus of Lady Charlotte Herbert, in Wilton church, 545.

Exploit, a gallant, in surprizing the city of Cracow, in 1772, 473.

F.

Fables, new literary, 39.

Fancy piece, or the production of imagination, 337.

Filial duty exemplified in difficult situations, or the history of Belfont and Sophia, 277.

Fillamour and Zimene, the history of, 198.

France, account of the several institutions there in favour of learning, 505.

Fresh provisions, receipt for curing, 422.

Friend, the false, 230.

G.

Good fortune, singular instance of, 304.

Gordon, Hon. Cosmo, his trial for the murder of Colonel Thomas, 299.

Grain, infallible method to save it when lodged, 234.

Grand Signior, his character, 497.

Gregory, Doctor, his advice to his daughter, 171, 196.

Guy's Hospital, historical description of, 204.

H.

Hand-bill, copy of a curious, 161.

Happy reconciliation, or the history of Sergius and Aranthe, 127.

Hare, Esq. character of A. a very extraordinary country gentleman, 446.

Hare, unnoticed properties of the, 217.

Highlands of Scotland, description of the wild and picturesque entrance into the, 102. affecting view of the distresses of the inhabitants of the, 508.

Honesty, uncommon instance of, 257.

Honiton, description of, with a list of its members from the revolution to the present time, 409.

I.

Imperial Ambassador at Constantinople's extraordinary account of the outrages committed on the ladies of his family in a riot in that city, 361.

Irish volunteers, their origin, 365.

J.

Joseph, a tale, intended for the instruction of young minds, 110.

L.

Lady's revenge, the, 52, 75.

Learning, on its dignity and utility, 372.

Liberum veto, account of its introduction into Poland, by Mr. Coxe, 73.

Little Grandsire, history of the boat so called, which gave rise to the Russian navy, 562.

London and Paris, comparison between, 326.

M.

Mackenzie, Captain Kenneth, his trial for murdering Kenneth Murray Mackenzie, 589. some account of the latter, 611.

Mad dog, infallible cure for the bite of one, 157.

Mahogany, first use of it in England, 412.

Man, on the requisites for making a, by Dr. Hunter, 97.

Man, history of an unfortunate, 442.

Manœuvre, an extraordinary, 305.

Matthews, General, some account of his sufferings, and those of the English

English forces under his command, while they were prisoners to Tippo Saib, 584.
Modern man of honour, the, 385.
——— neighbour, character of a, 349.
Music, north country method of teaching, 160.

N.

Nobody, the complaint of, 153.
No meaning, 543.
Norman, Justice, of Norwich, abstract of his will, 137.
Notice, copy of a curious one lately stuck up at Powerstock, in Dorsetshire, 569.

O.

Orthography, curious specimen of, 618.

P.

Polish Majesty, account of his astonishing escape from assassination, in 1771, 241.
Political tropes, hints for the management of, 145.
Post-Office, account of the progressive increase of its revenue, 353.
Production, a singular, 470.

Q.

Queen of Denmark, account of her affecting behaviour on parting from her daughter, 375.
Queries, 92, 212.—Answer to, 284.
Questions, 20, 44, 69, 92, 116, 138, 139, 163, 164, 188, 212, 236, 260, 284, 308, 331, 356, 380, 405, 452, 477, 500, 524, 548, 572, 595, 620.—Answers to, 17, 18, 42, 66, 67, 89, 90, 113, 114, 137, 162, 186, 210, 211, 235, 236, 259, 283, 306, 330, 381, 355, 379, 380, 403, 427, 451, 475, 499, 523, 547, 570, 594, 619.

R.

Rabbinical tradition, a specimen of, 520.
Reflections, 64, 88, 160, 232, 400, 475, 496, 520, 544, 568.
Religion only conferring true happiness, an Oriental story, by Tasso, 49.
Repartee, a, 305.
Revenge, a remarkable instance of, 189.
Russel, Esq. Richard, of Bermondsey, in Surrey, his character, 490.
Russian marriage, ceremony of a, 401.
Rebusses, 20, 92, 188, 237, 261, 284, 309, 332, 429, 453, 501, 525, 572, 596, 620.—Answers to, 19, 44, 68, 91, 115, 139, 163, 186, 187, 211, 307, 428, 451, 452, 571, 619.

S.

Scheldt, some account of that river, 532.
Scotch lords or chieftains, account of the five who will be restored to their titles and estates by the act passed in their favour last session of Parliament, 257.
Sermon, occasioned by the death of the Rev. Mr. Proctor, minister of Gissing, by the Rev. Mr. Moor, minister of Burton, in Norfolk, 313.
Shuttleworth, Mr. account of his singular voyage to America, 353.
Slave, account of the life of one in the West Indies, 158.
Story, a pathetic little, 1.
Sunday schools, Mr. Raikes's account of the first institution of, 226.

T.

Tea-drinkers, a caution to, 450.
Tim Wildgoose, adventures of, 34.
Turnip-fly, recipe to prevent the, 64.

V.

Vaucluse, the retreat of Petrarch, a description of, 347.
Verses, Ode in a thunder-storm, 22. anacreontic, 23. an evening hymn, by Tasso, 24. on death, by the same, 70. stanzas to a lady, written in the south of France, 71. sonnet, written at a small country house in Cornwall, by T. Warwick, L.L.B. 72. an elegiac sonnet, 94. elegy on a decayed house in Chute-Down, formerly resorted to for the benefit of inoculation, 95. sonnet written during a long voyage at sea, by T. Warwick, 96. epitaph on Dr. Evans,

Evans, ibid. truth and falſehood, a fable, communicated by G. Bulgen, of Caſtle-Cary, 118. compaſſion, an ode, inſcribed to the gentlemen ſubſcribers to the annual meeting of the three choirs of Glouceſter, Worceſter, and Hereford, 141. verſes ſent with a couple of chicken preſented to a lady the latter end of February laſt, by Amicus, of Briſtol, 166. a ſerious and neceſſary reflection, by T. Locock, of Martock, 167. epitaph on an exciſe officer, 168. epitaph on Thomas Hooper, a ſtone-cutter, written by Maſter James Haſkell, a youth of about 13 years of age, ibid. ſtanzas written at Midhurſt, in Suſſex, after attempting in vain to find out the burial place of Collins, which is ſaid to be at Chicheſter, written by Mr. Scott, 190. lines on the fair ſex, by Romaine Joſeph Thorne, of Bridgwater, 191. epitaphs, communicated by J——— W———, of Briſtol, 191, 239, 335, 623. epitaph on Mrs. Holmes, a midwife, who lies buried in Bridgwater church-yard, 192. elegy on a blackbird, 214. lines written on the walls of Clement's Inn, on ſeeing the dial ſupported by a negro, in a kneeling poſture, 216. on the ſudden death of Mr. James Whitehead, who died after being married only ſix days, 238. a morning hymn, by W. Kite, 262. paraphraſe on the firſt Pſalm, by Philagathus, 263. epigram on falling out with a very loquacious perſon, 264. retroſpection, an ode, 286. the ſtorm: a compariſon, 288. epigrams, 288, 312. a ſong, 310. ſonnet, by Mr. Pope, 312. the unconſcious lover, ibid. lines addreſſed to a young lady, 334. paraphraſe of the ſecond Pſalm, by Philagathus, 358. occaſioned by the launching a large balloon at Kingſcote, in Glouceſterſhire, 359. ſonnet to twilight, by Miſs H. Williams, 360. lines found in an hermitage at Caſtle-Hill, the ſeat of Lord Forteſcue, 366. Mary's dream, a real event, 382. the looking-glaſs and orange-tree, 383. courage miſplaced, 384. ſonnet to a lady, ibid. the oak and the river, 406. epitaph. 407, ſtanzas on hope, ibid. to Maria, 408. on Sir Joſhua Reynolds's being preſented with the freedom of the Painters Company, 430. paraphraſe of the 137th Pſalm, by Taſſo, 431. on an ancient gentlewoman who painted, 432. epigram, ibid. epigram on Michaelmas-day, ibid. inſcription for a ſequeſtered retreat called The Bower of Oberon, 455. Mr. Hayley on Miſs Seward's Louiſa, 456. an elegant jeu d'eſprit, on ſeeing a ſmall robin ſollow a gentleman in the laſt ſevere winter, 456. to the memory of the late Mr. Nicholas Kendall, canon-reſidentiary of Exeter, and archdeacon of Totnes, by a friend to his virtues, 478. on virtue, 479. lines addreſſed to the author's brother, ibid. verſes deſigned for a watch-paper, 480. elegy on the death of Miſs Sarah Starkey, of Everley, in Wilts, who died March 17, 1784, aged 19 years, 502. hymn, by Dr. Ingelo, 503. on wine, tranſlated from the Greek of Bacchylides, 504. the ſoldier, a muſical medley, inſcribed to the vocal enchantreſſes of Querumania, by Aboabecoacracoamonacoa, 526. on Lord Mansfield's falling with Lady Edward Bentinck from a bench in the ball-room at Tunbridge-Wells, and loſing his wig, by a lady, 528. on the ſame, by a lady, ibid. to the memory of my beloved ſiſter Maria Linley, 550. to a young lady, who wiſhed not to hear a funeral bell, 551. to a young lady who wiſhed to aſcend in an air-balloon, 552. on the preſent taſte for ſing-ſong and theatrical exhibitions, ibid. on the tax on horſes and hats, ibid. invocation to the nymph of the ſpring at Tunbridge-Wells, on Lord Mansfield's having expreſſed an intention of leaving the place, written by a lady, 574. anſwer to the invocation, written by a gentleman, man, 575. inſcribed to Lord Mansfield after his leaving Tunbridge-Wells, written by a gentleman of that place, 576. on the nativity of Chriſt, 598. ſonnet tranſlated from the Italian of P. Nicondano Taſſeus, by the Rev. Mr. Lipſcomb, chaplain to the Earl of Darlington, 599. reſtitution, addreſſed to a young lady who had taken a book from the author's room, 600. epitaph on John Sullen, ibid. to Maria, by the author of the Bath Lovers, 622. on the much lamented death of Dr. Samuel Johnſon, 624.

Viper, cure for the bite of a, 281.
Voltaire, memoirs of his life, written by himſelf, 121, 148.
Vulgar errors, curious enumeration of, 193.

W.

Welch, religious ceremonies uſed amongſt them in former times, 540.
Whimſical funeral, account of a, 561.

Y.

Youth, account of an unknown, who ſpeaks an unknown language, lately found in Normandy, 481.